

UNCHARTED TERRAIN: EQUITY AND EDUCATION

In this equity and education panel, higher education specialists and participants will focus on how educators can discuss perspectives they have in the shifting times related to intersections of equity, race, culture, disability, and other ethnic related dynamics. The College of Education faculty members will approach these topics from an education policy and equity lens and social justice perspective.

MEET THE PANELISTS:

Nolan Cabrera, associate professor, Center for the Study of Higher Education

Mary Carol Combs, professor, Teaching, Learning & Sociocultural Studies

Rick Orozco, associate professor, Teaching, Learning & Sociocultural Studies

Adai Tefera, assistant professor, Disability and Psychoeducational Studies

The panel will be moderated by the Education Policy Center's Robin Hiller.

TUES, 4/20 | 4 P.M.

LEARN MORE AND REGISTER AT
bit.ly/uncharted-terrain

Education

Education Policy Center